

The Osage Specialized Transport Difference: Why We're the Right Transportation Company for You

With the wide range of options available to you, choosing a transportation logistics service can make for a daunting challenge. If you want the delivery of your goods and services to be handled with care and delicacy, this should not be an easy or hasty decision. You will want to work with a company that offers exceptional service to ensure your valuables are protected in all circumstances. At Osage Specialized Transport, we are a trustworthy company that lives and breathes honesty and efficiency. We not only work to ensure your freight arrives on time but also strive to offer unique solutions that are tailored to your needs.

Who is Osage Specialized Transport?

Osage Specialized Transport is a locally owned and operated heavy haul trucking company located in Denver, Colorado. Originally formed in 1995 as an independent carrier under the name Native Sons Transportation, the company changed its structure in 2001 to become an agent-organized trucking company working with multiple large carriers. Over the years, Osage has grown in many aspects, putting the company in a great position to understand and provide solutions to the needs of customers. Today, Osage Specialized Transport boasts over 40 years of experience and connections in the industry and provides a range of services including trucking, transportation, flatbed trucking, hauling, and logistical services.

As a company, Osage greatly values its customers, customer representatives, independent drivers, transport partners, and employees. In fact,

Osage works with the philosophy "We work for two entities; the customers and the drivers." The company has demonstrated this by remaining committed to providing superior support and performance by ensuring the best transport and logistical solutions to markets, customers, and drivers. The experienced team of professionals at the company makes it easy for Osage Specialized Transport to deliver quality heavy hauling services to all clients.

Although Osage Specialized Transport hauls mainly for the pipeline industry, with a special focus on high-pressure gas equipment and their spreads, this is not exclusive. The company is involved in all phases of transportation for heavy equipment and machinery used in mining and construction, as well as other oversized loads and heavy equipment. Osage provides transportation services across the continental US, Canada, and Mexico. With a routine fleet of between 40 and 50 trucks, the company strives to be a leader in versatile trucking and transportation.

What Services Do We Excel In?

With our expertise and experience, we provide a wide range of heavy hauling services to our different clients. Regardless of the type of goods you would like to transport, you can depend on us for reliable, professional, timely, and safe services. Some of the services in which we excel are specialized transport, oversize load and logistics, and transportation management. Here is what we would like you to know about our services.

Specialized Transport

This is a unique transportation service for when you need to move loads that cannot be accommodated by the average trailer. It not only takes the right equipment and high-quality trailers to handle specialized heavy haul jobs but also skills and experience. As a non-asset based agent that is affiliated with larger carriers, we have access to a broad base of specialized equipment. The equipment and trailers are uniquely designed to accommodate and ship freight with uncommon weight, shape, or properties. In case the delivery of your cargo requires escorts and specialized trucks, you can count on us for fast and safe transport. Unlike a brokerage company, we communicate directly with the driver to ensure you enjoy superior service at all times.

Generally, the definition of a heavy haul load varies from one state to another. However, loads are considered to be heavy haul if they have a gross weight of more than 80,000 pounds or are more than eight feet and six inches wide. Mostly, specialized freight will include industrial farming tools, construction machinery, windmill components, and mining equipment. Depending on the load in question, some of the types of trailers that will be used for specialized transport are flatbed trailers, flatbed stretch trailers, side kit trailers, refrigerated trailers, step deck trailers, and step deck stretch trailers.

Oversize Load

Osage Specialized Transport knows that your business involves the use of heavy equipment and vehicles. When you need to have the equipment moved to a different location, you cannot trust it to just anyone. There are various laws, safety requirements, and extra considerations involved when it comes to hauling heavy and oversized loads. You will need a specially trained and skilled driver to ensure that your valuable cargo is transported safely to its destination. Considering different situations such as winding highways, icy roads, uneven surfaces, and erratic drivers and road users, working with a competent company will make sure your load arrives safely and intact. The good news is that Osage has the capacity to transport oversize loads anywhere in the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

We can help you transport different oversize loads, including earthmovers, backhoes, excavators, tractors, bulldozers, water tanks, bridge beams, boats, pre-assembled homes, and crushers. Most of our customers use the machinery and equipment in oilfields, mining, construction, farming, and manufacturing. Regardless of the size of your load or the nature of your needs, our professional staff members are qualified and experienced enough to ensure it gets wherever you need it to go on time.

Logistics & Transportation Management

Freight servicing involves more than just moving cargo from one point to another. The process entails coordinating, tracking, and adapting to logistical needs to ensure seamless transportation. In order to ensure we meet your freight transport needs, Osage Specialized Transport delivers exceptional logistical planning and oversight.

- Internal dispatch: Once you make the decision to partner with us, we will assign a dedicated internal dispatcher and logistics agent to you. This helps us to make sure that your freight is handled properly, we adapt to changing schedules and that the process of picking up and dispatching a scheduled load is well-coordinated and goes according to plan.
- Tracking ability: Through our robust Transport Management Systems, we ensure that you can not only track but also access reliable information about your freight. Our ability to coordinate ongoing logistics, maintain a chain of custody, and ensure freight management at all stages of transport let you know where your cargo is at any given point in time. We can track all goods by the customer, serial number and machine.
- Integration: Our user-friendly Transport Management System gives you insights into your freight transportation. The system is linked to company websites to promote the timely processing of loads and invoices. We also take data security seriously, ensuring your records and sensitive information is protected.

- Load boards: Our Transport Management System has access to multiple load boards. This helps to ensure that all drivers run on schedules that are convenient to your operations and comply with DOT standards. This helps to save both time and money.
